Mini Concerts for Seniors

Making music for all...

The purpose of our 'Mini Concerts', is to provide the residents of care homes with a special hour of entertainment, one that crosses generations and unites them with the young people performing for them through a mutual love of music. We understand that many care homes today find it difficult to raise the funds necessary to provide regular entertainment for their residents, and we therefore endeavour to keep the cost for each 'Mini Concerts' as low as possible. However, we do this without compromise and, as you would expect, all our performers are fully insured to perform for you, and are committed to delivering a professional show every time. The majority of the proceeds from each concert go directly to paying the young performers that we support, and into providing performance equipment for those who don't possess their own.

Each 'Mini Concerts' is an hour long session where a young performer sings a selection of classic songs, and talks to residents about their training, past shows, and what it's like to be a young performer today. The songs chosen for each concert is specially selected for the occasion by 'Mini Concerts' and the performers themselves. These range from classic tunes from the 40's, 50's and 60's, songs from the musicals, and even one or two more contemporary songs that have proven popular with past audiences. Resident (and staff) participation is actively encouraged, although not compulsory, so feel free to sing along!

So bring some West End glamour to your residents and book today!
